RE: MASSDOT Contract 121045 Scheduled and Emergency Resurfacing and Related Work at Various Locations

Dear Mr. Lorion,

The Sudbury Historical Commission (SHC) is in receipt of your letter dated April 27th, 2023 and would like to comment on the proposed removal, restoration and reset of the "Sudbury Fight" Tercentenary Marker.

The SHC believes these signs are out of date and the words should be revised. There are a number of residents and organizations in Sudbury who find the words to be offensive. Please see the attached letter dated January 25, 2023 from the Sudbury Clergy Association to the Town of Sudbury Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Commission.

Thank you,

Chris Hagger
Chair - SHC

Attachment - Sudbury Clergy Association Letter dated to the Town of Sudbury Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Commission

January 25, 2022

Dear Members of the Sudbury Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Commission,

As members of the Sudbury Clergy Association, we are concerned about the representation of First Peoples (Indigenous People) in public markers in Sudbury.

Three of Sudbury's public markers (see #1-3 below) suggest, without providing any context, that during the so-called King Philip's War, colonial settlers were defending their land from attacks by First Peoples. Through our 2021 eyes, the conflict between colonials and Metacomet (King Philip) and his people can be understood quite differently. Since First Peoples resided on this land for thousands of years before colonial settlers arrived, in the broader context, they can be understood to have been defending their ancestral land from invasion by colonial settlers. A fourth marker (see #4 below) states that the Town of Sudbury was "settled" in 1638, rendering invisible the presence of First Peoples on the land prior to the arrival of colonial settlers.

1. Sudbury Fight

Inscription: "One-quarter mile north took place the Sudbury Fight with King Philip's Indians on April 21, 1676. Captain Samuel Wadsworth fell with twenty-eight of his men; their monument stands in the burying ground."

2. Haynes Garrison House

Inscription: "One-Eighth of a mile north is the site of the Haynes Garrison House, the home of Deacon John Haynes. Here the settlers by their brave defense saved the town when King Philip and his Indian warriors attacked Sudbury in April, 1676."

3. The Goodnow Garrison House

Inscription: "Portion of the Goodnow Garrison House in which the settlers took refuge from King Philip's Indians during the battle of April 18-21, 1676."

4. Sudbury

Inscription: "Settled 1638 by a company of Puritans who arrived in the ship "Confidence" and were attracted by the meadows on the Musketaquid River. Named after Sudbury in Suffolk."

We write today to ask that the Sudbury Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Commission consider exploring and opening a conversation about public markers in Sudbury and their depiction of First Peoples. Recently, the Wayland Public Library hosted a panel discussion titled The Public History of King Philip's War. A recording of the program is available here. The Library panel, which included First Peoples scholars, offered insights on initiating public conversations about historical events involving First Peoples and centering the voices of present-day First Peoples in those conversations.

We thank you for your consideration, and look forward to your response.

Respectfully yours,
