

Rescue Raptors

Regulate Rat Poison

Raptors, coyotes, and other predators balance Massachusetts' ecosystems. But shocking numbers of these iconic creatures have been sickened and killed after eating poisoned rodents.

Mass Audubon supports local initiatives to protect raptors and other predators by regulating rodent poison. Join Rescue MetroWest Wildlife to learn how rat poisons harm wildlife and get involved in the fight to reduce their use.

© Jenny Zhao

MONDAY

MARCH 10th

7:00-8:30pm

Lincoln Public School Learning Commons

Ballfield Road, Lincoln, MA 01773

Hybrid option available via Zoom

Register: <https://bit.ly/RescueMetroWestWildlife>

Sponsored by: Lincoln Land Conservation Trust & the Concord, Lincoln, Sudbury, Wayland, & Weston Conservation and Natural Resources departments.