

INVENTORY OF HISTORIC BUILDINGS, STRUCTURES, AND PLACES IN SUDBURY, MASSACHUSETTS

This inventory is an accounting of pre-1940 buildings, structures, and places in Sudbury, Massachusetts. While primarily houses, it includes pre-1940 town buildings, five historic cemeteries, six historic milestones on Boston Post Road, and two 19th century bridges. Listed also is a small group of post-1940 architecturally significant houses on Raynor Road.

The survey is ordered by street, then street number. It can be resorted by downloading it and choosing Sort under Table (Microsoft Word). Besides street and house number, the database includes the item's historic name (if known), whether it is in an historic district (HD), whether it is listed on MACRIS, and in some instances a comment.

MACRIS is the Massachusetts Cultural Resource Information System. MACRIS allows access to the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC) database for information on historic structures, areas, and objects in the Commonwealth. MACRIS data is compiled from records maintained by the MHC, which include such sources as the Inventory of Historic Assets of the Commonwealth, National Register of Historic Places nominations, State Register of Historic Places listings, and local historic district study reports.

Buildings and structures that are in an historic district are protected from changes to their exterior, including demolition, that do not conform to the Sudbury Historic District General and Specific Guidelines. Changes to a pre-1940 building or structure that lie outside an historic district are subject to a six-month demolition delay should the building or structure be considered historically significant by the Sudbury Historic Commission.

Sudbury has a number of listings in the National Register of Historic Places. Any place that is listed is noted under Comments. To be considered for the National Register a place must present "the quality of significance in American history." Being on the National Register does not protect it from being changed in ways not considered historic or from being demolished.

While the inventory has been checked for accuracy, it is very possible you may find an error. If you find anything, please feel free to contact the Planning and Community Development and let us know: pcd@sudbury.ma.us. Note: in many instances different sources list a different date for a house or building. In these instances, the earliest date has been chosen.

Here is a brief summary of the inventory:

- Sudbury has approximately 458 historic, pre-1940 buildings, structures, and places.
- Two hundred seventy-one are on MACRIS. One hundred forty-eight are in historic districts, 310 are not.
- There are 403 houses on the inventory. Two hundred and eleven were built before 1900, 192 after.
- Sudbury has two districts, four buildings, and six milestones listed on the Nation Register of Historic Places. The districts are Sudbury Center Historic District and Wayside Inn Historic District. Of the buildings, one is the Goodnow Library. A second, the Bogle-Walker Farm, was demolished in the 1990s.
