Updates with Chief Nix:

Chief Nix provided an overview of the Sudbury Police Department's community engagement initiatives, including Citizens Academy and the Jail Diversion Program.

Citizen's Academy: The most recent Citizen's Academy was canceled, however the first one was kicked off well. Chief Nix shared that the Academy has a good curriculum and their graduation program is wonderful.

18+ minimum age; Chief requested to help with recruitment in the Spring

Self Defence, RAD(Rape Aversion Defence): For females only, about self empowerment and self awareness.

The recent course was for the more tenured residents. However, it is a good program by the Sudbury police which is highly recommended

Q/A:

Isaac asks the age for RAD: 18 minimum answered by Chief Nix

Janine asks about SROs at all the Schools.

Chief Nix informs the SROs are at High School and at Curtis and they usually make a visit to the Elementary Schools.

Jail Diversion Program (JDP):

Mental Health Clinician with different resources and a different mindset who teaches the Police Department and helps with the JDP program.

The intent is to keep people out of the criminal justice system and help with going to the hospital.

Helps to save money. This has been around 7 years. Program shared with Hudson.

Many clients have been students especially due to the pressures of Social Media.

Safa gave an update on the Community Conversations Hate Crime Event to be held in Wayland.

Chief Nix agreed to advertise on the facebook page of Sudbury Police Department.

Chief Nix talks about being educated about the Swastika by Nalini Luthra who was the previous chair of the SDEIC.

Janine read the statement of the Community Conversations Hate Crime Event from the flyer, which includes preventative measures.

Chief Nix suggested connecting with the Sudbury Clergy so that they could incorporate this in the newsletter.

At 7:45 pm, discussion on the letter received sent by a resident regarding the Cancellation of Tri-district calendar meeting.

Janine starts with a preface, vocal minority causing the outcome.

Chief Nix talks about Consistency especially with respect to the holidays.

Passionate discussion ability has been lost, but there is always going to be an anomaly

Chief Nix shared that Free Speech may include Poor Speech.

Hence it may not be a criminal matter that the police may be involved.

Safa shared about the library program which was canceled in the summer. Requesting for more avenues for the Silent Majority.

At 8:15 pm: Chief Nix shared closing statement

Thomas: Could we adopt a calendar as a commission, DEI Approved Calendar which we could share with town committees.

Thomas and Isaac to work on a draft to share with the community and school committee chairs.

At 8:45 pm, Janine makes a motion to authorise Isaac and Thomas to draft a letter of response to be sent to the chair, bringing the draft to the next letter. All respond in affirmative

Kimberly Lezak interview:

Introduction of the SDEIC was provided by Janine.

Addressing Gender Bias in Science

Kimberly discussed the challenges of gender bias in science and shared strategies for addressing it, including surrounding herself with a supportive network.

Kimberly emphasized the importance of DEI initiatives and suggested ways to improve community engagement, such as leveraging school newsletters and collaborating with local groups like the LGBTQIA community and the senior center.

Kim committed to attending monthly DEI Commission meetings and expressed her unwavering commitment to the cause.

DEI Commission Planning and Next Steps

The DEI Commission discussed their role and next steps following a joint meeting with the Select Board. They agreed to continue their conversation at their next meeting in November focusing on defining what DEI means to them and proposing a more structured approach to their work. The commission also decided to review the town and library calendars to identify opportunities for representation at events, and to develop branding materials and collateral to share at these events. They plan to interview Lorena as part of the hiring process for a new member, and will continue discussions with the Select Board about their role and needs.

At 9:47pm, Thomas made a motion to adjourn and all replied in the affirmative.
